ANDERSON TOP SEED IN DELRAY BEACH

Delray Beach Resident is world No. 14

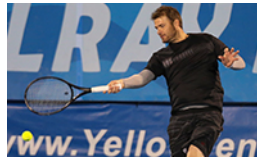

2012 champion Kevin Anderson is the top seed in the 2016 Delray Beach Open draw that was released today by the tournament. Anderson, a Delray Beach resident, was also top-seeded a year ago and plays American Austin Krajicek in the first round. Australian Bernard Tomic is the No. 2 seed and drew American Rajeve Ram as his first round opponent, with defending champion Ivo Karlovic the third seed. Karlovic has drawn a qualifier in the first round and won't know his opponent until Sunday. Click here for the full main draw.

ATP CHAMPIONS TOUR TIED AT 1-1

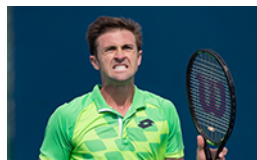

Team USA and Team International Split Day 1 Matches

Wayne Ferreira defeated Aaron Krickstein 6-2, 7-5 in the night's first match, giving Team International a 1-0 lead. Mardy Fish quickly equalized for Team USA, defeating Emilio Sanchez 6-1, 6-4. Fish was making his ATP Champions Tour debut. For more, click here.

SMYCZEK EARNS FINAL WILD CARD

Fritz gets special exemption after Memphis win

American teens Tim Smyczek and Noah Rubin join former world No. 5 Juan Martin del Potro as the three wild cards for this year's main draw. American teen Taylor Fritz was initially given a tournament wild card but instead received a special exemption into the event late Saturday. That came after Fritz beat German Benjamin Becker to reach the Memphis semifinal in only his third ATP-level tournament.
